Description

Varnished wood travel chamber, brass fittings and brown canvas bellows, format 18x24 circa 1870. The Dallmeyer Rapid Rectilinear n.2 lens is a historic lens, designed by John Henry Dallmeyer around 1866. It is a "rectilinear" lens, meaning that it corrects distortion in a straight line. This model provides good aberration correction and a wider field of view than lenses of the time. link to <https://www.lavalisearlesienne.com/product-page/chambre-18-x-24-objectif-dallmeyer-rectilinear-n-2>
