Description

Design Étagère Bookcase - Italy, 1970s
An elegant étagère from the 1970s, a period when Italian design successfully combined formal experimentation with material refinement. Dimensions: H 200 x W 115 x D 41 cm. The structure, crafted from finely worked natural rattan, features a sinuous, continuous rhythm that culminates in the characteristic inverted "U"-shaped upper arches--an iconic detail that lends lightness and grace to the piece. This curvilinear design creates a harmonious balance between stability and dynamism, making the bookcase visually sophisticated from every angle. The five shelves in fine burl wood introduce a warm, enveloping touch: the rich, undulating grain interacts with the more linear texture of the rattan, creating a material contrast
