

Pair Of Silver-plated Candlesticks, European Work, 20th Century

220 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Silver metal

Diameter : 14

Height : 27,5

Description

An elegant pair of silver-plated candlesticks of slender, tapered form, resting on circular stepped bases. The shafts are finely fluted and punctuated with discreet rings, rising from a knopped section adorned with gadrooning, giving the whole a balanced silhouette inspired by the neoclassical vocabulary. The slightly flared nozzles, edged with a delicate beaded detail, integrate seamlessly into the overall design. The pair reflects a careful and well-executed manufacture, characteristic of 20th-century European production. The silver plating, of good quality, presents a gently softened patina, with subtle tonal variations in the recesses that enhance the readability of the forms. The underside reveals the underlying metal with characteristic iridescence, consistent with electroplated silver on a copper or brass view: A well-balanced pair, where the clarity of neoclassical design meets restrained and confident execution. Their slender proportions and understated presence make them easy to integrate, bringing a refined and structured touch to a table or console without overwhelming the setting.
