Description

Empire period somno - Flamed mahogany - Marble top - 19th century
Elegant Empire period somno in flamed mahogany, opening with an arched front door revealing three interior shelves. It is topped by a circular grey veined marble top and rests on a molded base forming a pedestal. The front is adorned with a bronze pull knob. This type of small cylindrical piece of furniture was used as an occasional or nightstand in early 19th-century interiors. The mahogany veneer features a beautiful flamed veining characteristic of quality furniture of this period. French work from the Empire period - early 19th century. Dimensions: Height : 73,5 cm Diameter/depth: 40 cm Overall good condition, beautiful patina.
