Period : 18th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Oil painting

Width : 94

Height : 120

Description

A beautiful Neoclassical oil painting on canvas in the style of Angelica Kauffmann. The painting reflects Kauffmann's characteristic "gentle style," marked by extreme delicacy in the facial features, a soft application of color, and an idealization of the figures that blends Italian Renaissance tradition (particularly the influence of Raphael) with neoclassical sensibility. The Madonna is portrayed in a half-length portrait, gazing tenderly at the Child. The Child is depicted in a natural pose, often with an arm outstretched toward his mother, creating a sense of domestic and divine intimacy. The antique frame is a fine piece, carved and gilded with gold leaf. The painting is in good condition. The dimensions are 120 cm by 94 cm with the frame and 100 cm by 70 cm for the canvas alone
