Description

???? Pair of leather reading armchairs - Victorian style, 1960s
Elegant pair of genuine leather reading armchairs, made in the tasteful Victorian style, dating from the 1960s. These comfortable, enveloping silhouette, directly inspired by the famous club chairs that appeared in the 19th century, designed to provide optimum comfort in living rooms and libraries. The chairs are designed to be easy to move around in. The slightly sloping backrest, upholstered with buttons, forms an elegant diamond pattern typical of traditional English production. The generous seat and curved armrests reinforce the warm, welcoming of the ensemble. The full-grain leather upholstery features a beautiful natural patina with shades of cognac, testifying to its authenticity and use,
