Description

Polychrome glazed ceramic plate, Giancarlo Piani, Faenza, diameter 26 cm.Signed by the artist on the bottom and bearing a red diamond-shaped stamp representing the official logo of the Ente Ceramica Faenza. This mark guarantees that the piece belongs to Faenza's "classic production."Giancarlo Piani (1940-1999) graduated as a technician from the "G. Ballardini" Art Institute in Faenza. After gaining over a year of experience at a ceramic paint factory, he opened an art studio in Faenza in 1967, which allowed him to develop his talent as a ceramist while simultaneously conducting passionate research on colors and glazes. Due to his unique creativity, the sculptor Angelo Biancini--who had been his teacher at the art institute--wanted him, starting in 1970, as a close collaborator and
