Description

Art Nouveau serving tray with floral earthenware decoration
Elegant Art Nouveau-style serving tray, featuring a refined earthenware central panel with polychrome decoration. The composition, delicately inspired by nature, features large stylized flowers accompanied by butterflies and sinuous arabesques, characteristic of the organic aesthetics of this artistic movement. The ensemble is framed by a wooden structure, equipped with side handles for easy serving. The decor, in soft, harmonious shades, evokes Art Nouveau's taste for curved lines and plant motifs. An object both utilitarian and decorative, this tray will find a perfect place in a refined interior or a collection of decorative arts from the late 19th - early 20th century. This tray is both utilitarian
