Description

Attractive bronze and brass chandelier, illuminated by three arms of light. Dating from the 19th century, it was designed for candlelight and has never been modified, so there are no pierced cups or spigots. Composed of a baluster-shaped central shaft, it is embellished at the bottom by a large bronze sphere and adorned at the top with three stylized griffins leaning against each other. This chandelier is in the Dutch 17th-century style. It has a beautiful old bronze patina, with two small holes on one of the light arms (see photo). Dimensions: height 75 cm width 55 cm Postage upon request.
