Description

Elegant watercolor by Fernand Herbo (1905-1995) depicting a bustling navy of sailboats at anchor, treated with great freedom of execution. The artist aptly captures the atmosphere of a harbor, where slender masts, supple sails and shifting reflections on the water compose a lively, luminous scene. The brushstrokes, at once rapid and masterful, lend the whole a sense of spontaneity very characteristic of his work. The palette, subtly shaded with watery greens, bluish grays and warm tones, reinforces this feeling of a moment caught on the spot, in a spirit akin to late Impressionism. Artist regularly featured at public auctions, Fernand Herbo is appreciated for his decorative seascapes, both accessible and sensitive. Technique: watercolor on paper
