Description

This Normandy cabinet, Cauchois model with gendarme hat, is a true testament to 19th century elegance and craftsmanship. Its iconic design, recognizable by all, is marked by a slightly rounded hat, typical of creations from this region. The carefully crafted panels protrude slightly, a detail that attests to the high quality of manufacture and attention to finish. The doors of this cabinet follow the shape of the hat perfectly, reinforcing the harmony and balance of the whole. The top rail is adorned with a carved rhombus, a motif that adds a touch of refinement and sophistication. The front legs, meanwhile, are carved in the shape of shells, a detail that recalls the influence of classical styles and the meticulous craftsmanship of the period. The bottom rail, located at the bottom of the cabinet,
