Description

Large painted and gilded wood jardinière - Louis XV period. Elegant and rare carved, painted and richly gilded Louis XV wood jardinière d'apparat, resting on a visually light double scroll openwork base. The body adopts a cradle-shaped movement, typical of 18th-century Rococo taste, animated by asymmetrical curves, shells and finely carved foliage. The panels are adorned with painted scenes with country decor, depicting putti moving in a bucolic landscape, in the spirit of gallant decor. The east interior of the jardinière is fitted with a zinc basin. The whole is sublimated by an antique polychromy in pastel tones and a patinated gilding, giving the piece an authentic charm and a beautiful decorative presence. The slender, elegant base features particularly meticulous openwork
