Description

This small table, stamped "Italia", is a refined, sculptural piece of mid-twentieth-century Italian design. It perfectly reflects the spirit and elegance associated with Gio Ponti's work in the 1950s. Its softly curved, organic top rests on three tapered wooden legs, each adorned with a brass ferrule that adds a subtle touch of sophistication and a typically Italian note. The interplay between the warmth of polished wood and the soft sheen of brass gives the table a light, architectural presence, while its compact dimensions make it ideal for integration into a variety of interiors. Used as a side table, bedside table or display for a precious object, it brings with it the inimitable charm of mid-twentieth-century Italy. The workmanship is meticulous and precise, with proportions both playful and refined; qualities
