Description

Refined lost-wax bronze sculpture mounted on a rectangular base of green Prato marble. The sculpture depicts an antelope in a dynamic pose, with its neck and muzzle pointing upward, and its front legs raised. The sculpture's stylistic and physiognomic details are remarkable, lending it a refined elegance. This tasteful and elegant sculpture will add a touch of class to any space. Please note that the marble base has a fracture that requires restoration. On the back of the sculpture, the bronze bears the sculptor's signature, "Montini," referring to the famous sculptor Iginio Montini (1874-1954), born in Friuli and active in Florence around the beginning of the 20th century. Dimensions: H x W x D 72 x 75 x 52cm
