Description

A lacquered corner cabinet dating from the late 19th century, characterized by simple and elegant lines. Crafted from wood, it features a light-toned lacquer finish that highlights the natural beauty of the surface. The front door is divided into panels, with a central glass section that allows for the display of objects, while the lower section is closed. Interior with shelves. Original burnished metal hardware. A functional and decorative piece, ideal for making use of corner spaces in classic, rustic, or country-style interiors. In good condition with signs of wear consistent with its age.
