Description

Steel ladies' watch from the 60s signed by the great JAEGER LECOULTRE manufacture.The elegant rectangular case is supported by two stirrup-shaped lugs that give this iconic watch its name. Its curved shape adds to its elegance and hugs the shape of the wrist. Its black dial with applied hour-markers contributes to the watch's sophistication. To preserve its aesthetic appeal, the winding crown has been placed at the bottom of the case rather than on its side. The watch is mounted on a black lizard leather strap with pin buckle.The JAEGER LECOULTRE watchmaking signature appears on its dial. Equipped with a hand-wound mechanical movement, this jewel watch features high technical quality, calling on the excellence of the know-how specific to this manufacture. This
