Description

Cloitre du Couvent des Augustins de Crémieu en Dauphiné (Isère)By Ernest Berthier (1873-1967), a painter and watercolorist born in Ardèche, who worked throughout his career between Lyon and Paris. His work is in the tradition of the landscape painters of the late 19th and early 20th centuries, with a technique that favors the lightness and transparency of watercolor. Original frame and glass bearing an old exhibition label,probably from the "Salon d'automne de Lyon" where he exhibited for many years. On the back, the watercolor is located, and is also inscribed with the number 1571.Frame dimensions: 34.5 x 44.5 cm
