Description

Suite of 4 French Art Deco dining chairs, 1920s. Elegant suite of four French chairs from the 1920s, exquisitely illustrating the transition between traditional craftsmanship and the emerging Art Deco aesthetic. Made from solid wood - probably walnut or fruitwood - these chairs feature sober, architectural lines softened by gentle curves, creating a balanced, timeless silhouette. The backrests are distinguished by a horizontal crossbar embellished by a twisted central detail, adding a subtle decorative touch without weighing down the overall look. The beautifully proportioned seats are upholstered in a neutral fabric, offering both comfort and great ease of integration into different interior styles. Resting on slender turned legs, these chairs retain a light presence while offering a solid,
