Description

Vallauris: Charming decorative ceramic depicting a well with birds - Art Deco work circa 1940
Pretty polychrome enameled ceramic composition depicting a rustic well embellished with small perched birds, buckets and jug. The whole is treated in a very decorative country spirit, with beautiful modeling work and enamels in bright shades of greens, blues and ochres. This piece, typical of the decorative productions of the 1950s-1970s, seduces with its naive and poetic aspect, evoking a lively garden scene. The relief details (birds, wood, masonry of the well) add great charm and presence. Ideal decorative object for a country, kitchen or conservatory setting. Good overall condition, please note slight chips from use
