Description

Pair of Quimper asparagus plates - Porquier-Beau, polychrome earthenware with children scenes, XIXe centuryCharming pair of Quimper polychrome earthenware asparagus plates from the Porquier-Beau manufacture, dating from the second half of the XIXe century.These two rimmed plates each feature a delicate, poetic genre scene, illustrating the world of childhood with great sensitivity.First plate: depicts three young children - two boys and a girl - playing with a cart, in a lively, animated scene evoking everyday games.Second plate: depicts two children holding hands, heading towards a house, in a softer, more intimate composition, imbued with tenderness.The wings are decorated with foliate scrolls in blue, enhanced by floral motifs, typical of Quimper productions of this
