Description

A magnificent piece of early 20th-century column furniture from a Belgian presbytery. Made of warm-toned wood, it features elegant panels inlaid on the doors. Behind the doors, the interior reveals a remarkable arrangement of numerous small drawers and open shelves, originally designed to store correspondence and documents.The piece rests on elegant turned legs, linked by a curved strut, giving it both stability and refinement. It retains its original key, and the locks and fittings are still present, attesting to its authenticity. The wood has a rich natural patina, with light signs of use attesting to its age and contributing to its historic character.Dimensions:Width: 116 cmDepth: 40 cmHeight: 138 cm
