Description

Double strand cultured pearl necklace, 18k gold jeweled clasp set with a 2.85 carat Ceylon sapphire and diamonds, 1980s
Description
Very elegant choker necklace from the 1980s, featuring two strands of carefully strung cultured pearls with knots, presenting a perfectly controlled fall thanks to a slight difference in length between the two strands. The clasp, conceived as a genuine jewelry motif worn on the front, is made of 18-carat gold and structured in concentric volumes, typical of 80s design. It is centered on a 2.85-carat natural oval Ceylon sapphire, with a beautiful deep blue hue. Gemological observation revealed traces of heating, a classic treatment for this type of stone. The setting is entirely set with calibrated diamonds, providing a luminous contrast with the depth of the sapphire and the
