Description

An elegant pendant lamp featuring a refined hand-molded burnished brass frame and a blown Murano glass diffuser. The frame features a sinuous and decorative line, composed of curved elements that form an open cage-like structure, typical of Venetian glass production in the 1940s, where metal becomes an integral part of the aesthetic as well as functional design. The light body consists of a transparent Murano glass shade, crafted with vertical grooves and a wavy corolla edge, crafted according to the Venetian glassblowing tradition. This process allows for a soft and uniform diffusion of light, enhancing the crystalline quality of the artisanal glass. The lamp is completed with a decorative glass pendant and a matching brass ceiling rose. Dimensions: H 82 cm, W 37 cm, D 25 cm
