Description

An elegant round coffee table made of solid walnut, from the Veneto region, dating to the 19th century. The circular top, compact yet well-proportioned, highlights the wood's beautiful natural grain, with the warm, deep tones typical of walnut. Beneath the rim is a practical built-in drawer--discreet and functional--that blends seamlessly into the piece's lines. Particularly noteworthy is the turned and fluted central column, which lends the piece a sense of height and elegance, resting on a shaped tripod base that is stable and well-balanced. Its harmonious proportions make it a versatile piece, ideal as a coffee table, guéridon, or side table in both classic and more eclectic settings. The piece is in good condition and has recently undergone a conservative restoration. Dimensions: diameter
