Description

Gilded beechwood armchair. Double baluster front legs finely carved with lanceolate leaves and saber-shaped back legs. Foliate thimble and richly decorated belt with post or Greek wave friezes.

Armrests in antique-style fluted and ringed columns, resting on diamond-pointed tables with scrapers. Straight armrests joined to the back by an acanthus scroll. Back frame carved with interlacing friezes. While the chair's silhouette is typically Empire-style (double baluster, columnar arm brackets, square back), the chair nevertheless dates from the Restoration period, as it borrows several decorative elements from the Louis XVI style: posts and interlacing. Fully pegged assembly and inventory markings under the armchair. History: Pavillon de Massipe - Château de Versailles, inventory 1840 and 1855V 5026:
