Description

This elegant pair of chandeliers showcases a refined and highly decorative silhouette, combining a gilded metal structure with cascading strands of faceted glass drops. Likely dating from the mid-20th century, these pieces reinterpret the classic French chandelier form with a lightness and grace that make them particularly versatile in both traditional and contemporary interiors.Each chandelier is composed of a central gilt metal frame from which multiple curved arms rise, delicately supporting draped swags and vertical cascades of faceted glass beads and teardrop-shaped pendants. The overall composition creates a fluid, almost waterfall-like effect, enhancing the play of light and adding movement to the design.The lower circular tier is richly adorned with dense rows of glass drops, forming a luminous skirt that diffuses light beautifully. While the visual effect closely resembles crystal, the elements are made of glass, contributing to a lighter structure without compromising on brilliance.The gilded metal frame features subtle engraved details, adding depth and texture to the overall design. Electrified with multiple light points, these chandeliers offer both functional illumination and strong decorative presence.A striking and harmonious pair, ideal for flanking a dining room, illuminating a bedroom, or elevating a refined living space with timeless French charm.
