Description

Louis XVI period barometer - 18th century - signed Pargilard
Elegant Louis XVI period wall barometer, in finely carved wood, green lacquered and richly enhanced with gilding. The decor features a refined composition typical of neoclassical taste, acanthus leaves, ribbons and symmetrical scrolls. The upper part features a thermometer, while the lower part is adorned with a circular dial indicating atmospheric variations (fair weather, variable, rain, etc.). Dial signed Pargilard, 18th-century master barometer maker, a guarantee of authenticity and quality. Beautiful color harmony between the soft green and the original gilding, offering a highly decorative rendering. Condition: Good overall condition, normal wear in keeping with the period,
