Description

Winter on the Alpspitze, Bavarian Alps Early 20th-century Alpine painting depicting a snow-covered mountain landscape, executed with a textured style and a luminous palette. Code: QM235Period: early 20th centuryProvenance: GermanyArtist: C.H. ZimmermannTechnique: oil on panelDimensions of artwork: 59 x 72 cmDimensions with frame: 73 x 86 cmDescription: Painting depicting a winter Alpine landscape dominated at its center by the Alpspitze peak in the Bavarian Alps, Germany. The rocky relief is rendered through a solid and simplified composition, with sloping planes highlighted by light backgrounds and cool shadows. In the foreground, a snow-covered slope is visible, crisscrossed by irregular marks that suggest the movement of the terrain and the play of light on the snow. On the left, several coniferous trees emerge, rendered with a textured and concise brushstroke, introducing a vertical element that contrasts with the landscape's horizontal flow. The color palette is restrained, dominated by blues, grays, and whites, with darker accents in the rocks and foliage. The paint application is thick and visible, with evident brushstrokes that lend rhythm and depth to the surface. Available with a 7 cm antique fir wood frame, custom-made in our restoration workshop.
