Description

Beautiful oil on canvas of the Château de Chambord dating from the early 19th century. The originality of this canvas lies in the framing of the monument, usually presented from the front, which here is immersed in a green setting, as it existed at the time. In this anonymous canvas, we appreciate the respect for proportions and perspective, the care taken with the vegetation reflected in the water in the foreground, and the beautiful luminosity. It has an imposing wood and gilded stucco frame that sets it off particularly well, and it measures 50 x 64 cm. Hand delivery is recommended, given the weight and fragility of the frame.
