Description

Important Louis XV curved two-body buffet in cherry wood with integrated clock - 20th century
Elegant and imposing Louis XV-style curved two-body buffet in solid cherry wood, dating from the early 20th century, offering both great storage capacity and a remarkable decorative presence. This piece is distinguished by its architectural three-part composition, dominated at its center by an integrated clock, bringing charm and functionality. The enameled dial is framed by a sculpted decoration of scrolls and floral motifs in the rocaille taste. The upper part features open shelves framed by two side cabinets with solid doors, ideal for storage or display. The lower body opens through several doors and a series of central drawers, offering generous and practical storage space. The ensemble is richly adorned
