Description

Walnut bench / dormeuse, dating from the late 19th century, of fine craftsmanship. The frame is made of solid walnut, with harmonious lines and shaped legs that evoke the classic style of the period. The slightly curved backrest and gently tapered armrests lend the piece great balance and refinement. The seat is padded and upholstered in fabric, as is the backrest, offering good comfort without sacrificing elegance. Ideal as a piece of furniture for living rooms, entryways, bedrooms, or formal spaces, it suits both classic settings and eclectic interiors. An authentic period piece, perfect for collectors and lovers of antique furniture.
