L'ARTISTE Francis SWAINE was baptized in London on June 22, 1719 in St Botolph, London, although his exact date of birth is unknown. By 1735 he was working as a messenger for the Council of the Navy. He married the eldest daughter of Peter Monamy in 1749, like him his works are inspired by Willem van de Velde II (1633-1707), like his contemporary Charles Brooking. He exhibited in London from 1762 to 1783 forty-eight works at the Society of Artists and seventy-three at the Free Society, of which he was a member.
