

Farmyard Scene, 19th Century Belgian School, Oil On Mahogany Panel.

680 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Oil painting on wood

Description

Farmyard scene, 19th century Belgian school, oil on mahogany panel. Charming farmyard scene depicting a rooster, several hens and a farmyard bird, probably a pigeon, evolving in the foreground in a rural environment. The composition is organized around a ground of earth and straw, at the foot of a wooden fence and a rough shelter. In the background, an open landscape unfolds with a few buildings in the distance, under a blue sky animated by light clouds. The whole is treated with a supple touch and a search for atmosphere, characteristic of nineteenth-century animal painting, in the tradition of the Belgian and Dutch schools. The work is executed in oil on mahogany panel, a support frequently used in northern European workshops for its stability. It is presented in a

Dealer

M&N Antiquités

Antiquaires généralistes

Mobile : 06 64 02 14 84

3 grande rue

La Chapelle-sur-Oreuse 89260

later wood and gilded stucco frame, previously cut and adapted to the panel's dimensions.

19th-century Belgian school, in the tradition of animal painters, close to Frans van Severdonck.

Dimensions: Viewed: 26 × 21 cm Framed: 44 × 38.5 cm