Description

Small marine pyrogen bronze 19th century 1st Empire This small bronze representing a moss, measures 11.5 cm in height and has an original patina. The work is in a good state of preservation, with no accidents to report. This careful model is an authentic testimony to 19th-century maritime sculptural art. The uniform worn suggests a provenance from the French navies of the Napoleonic era, probably from a crew of the military navy, with distinctive features specific to this period. The dark patina testifies to the natural aging of the bronze. Anchor on terrace, barrel reserve for matches. Provenance: French Navy, 19th century, after the figure's distinctive uniform.
