particular for the production of lead-free crystal glass. Moser crystal is a luxurious and refined product, particularly popular with collectors because of the different artistic variations of its creations. In its 150-year history, it has developed on a grand scale, investing palaces and the finest restaurants in many countries. It confirms its image of prestige with its slogan "the Glass of Kings, the King of Glass" since the manufacture counts such prestigious customers as the Queen of England Elizabeth II, King Mohammed V, the Imperial Court of Austria and even Pope Pius XI.In 1904, Moser was granted a patent to become a supplier to the Imperial Court of the Austrian Emperor, and four years later,he became the supplier to Edward VII[7].
