Description

Beautiful Limoges porcelain vase decorated with a military figure, probably a musketeer seated and quenching his thirst. On the back of the vase, a cartouche decorated with a fortified castle. Gold highlights on the neckline.This vase bears the signature "De Rilhac"Below the base, two stamps are present, the first for the Mavaleix factory (period 1908-1914), the second in green also for export, Georges Borgfeldt in New York, had his porcelain decorated in Limoges under the Coronet trade name.In 1908, after the dissolution of the company he had formed with the Balleroy and Mondavy brothers, Paul Maurice Mavaleix continued alone at 1 rue Charpentier. The few known pieces he produced were extremely meticulous, and it was at full capacity that in 1914 he had to close his factory to go off to war.
