Description

Important 19th-century console table in carved and richly gilded wood, topped by a marble top veined in warm shades of pink and cream. The console rests on elegant arched legs joined by a richly carved strut, adorned with rocaille and floral motifs. The ensemble is profusely decorated with acanthus leaves, moving rocaille and floral garlands, in a particularly refined Louis XV style. The quality of the carving and the dynamism of the asymmetrical ornamentation give this piece a highly decorative and sculptural character. The marble top creates an elegant contrast with the warm gilding and reinforces the luxurious appearance of the ensemble. Thanks to its harmonious proportions and rich details, this console is both a remarkable decorative element and a refined piece of architectural
