

Indo-nepalese Carved Wood Architectural Element With Dragons And Arch - 19th Century

150 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Solid wood

Length : 31

Width : 4,5

Height : 24

Description

Monoxyle piece (carved from a single block) featuring decor of great technical finesse. The central arch with openwork decoration is flanked by two stylized mythical creatures (Makaras or dragons), characteristic of South Asian art. The object has a deep, dark patina, testifying to its age and original use, probably as a fragment of a pediment or cult niche decoration. Dimensions: W 31 cm x H 24 cm x Thickness 4.5 cm. Ready to hang thanks to its clip on the reverse.
