Description

This elegant French pedestal column, dating from the late 19th-century, is a refined example of classical design inspired by antiquity. Crafted from beautifully veined white marble, the column is accented with finely chased gilt bronze mounts that add warmth, contrast, and decorative richness to the piece. The capital and base are adorned with delicately engraved motifsstylized foliage and scrolling patterns--demonstrating the quality of craftsmanship typical of the Napoleon III period.The cylindrical shaft rises gracefully from a stepped square plinth, providing both stability and visual balance. The top surface, also in marble, offers a perfect display platform for a sculpture, vase, or decorative object, elevating it with understated sophistication. The proportions are harmonious and slender, allowing the pedestal
