Description

Elegant Directoire period marquise, late 18th century, in verdigris painted wood, retaining a beautiful old patina. A reverse-back model, with sober, perfectly balanced lines typical of the Directoire taste. The deliberately wide structure was originally designed to accompany crinoline dresses, offering a generous and comfortable seat. The upholstery features antique striped velvet in weathered green tones, in harmony with the wood shade. The canopy has been re-trimmed in the workshop, restoring its fit and comfort, ready for everyday use. Both a decorative and functional piece, it finds its place in both classic and contemporary interiors. Dimensions: H. 92 × W. 90 × D. 47 cm Very good used condition, small accident to the armrest support and with normal traces of time. Delivery possible in France
