Description

A superb walnut burl chest of drawers, this Restoration period piece, made in the first part of the XIXe century, perfectly illustrates the restrained elegance and masterful craftsmanship of the period. It opens to the body with three identical drawers, each fitted with its own lock, offering a harmonious, balanced front. A shallower drawer in the waist completes the set, providing additional functionality while visually lightening the structure. The ensemble rests with distinction on two ball feet at the front, a characteristic detail that gives the chest of drawers a look that is both solid and refined. The richness of the walnut, magnified by the natural play of the burl, makes this a warm, authentic piece, ideal for lovers of quality antique furniture.Era: 1st Part XIXthVery good
