Description

Beautiful pair of classic double-sided chain-link-connected men's cufflinks in hallmarked 9-carat gold, made in Birmingham in 1984 by silversmiths Steele & Dolphin, in the timeless Edwardian taste of the early XXe century. Each button is composed of two oval plates linked by a short gourmette link chain, one side decorated with a fine barley grain pattern guilloché flanked and divided by polished pinstripe bands, the opposite side left smooth, ready to receive a monogram or initials engraving, all within an oval relief frame. The reverses bear full British 9-carat gold (.375) hallmarks: master hallmark "S&D" for Steele & Dolphin, title hallmark "375", anchor of the Birmingham Guarantee House and letter-date "K" for 1984. The pair is presented in its original fitted navy blue leatherette case with frieze gilt trim and royal blue velvet interior, closed with a gilt metal clasp. Very good used condition, the gold retaining its warm color with light surface marks consistent with wear, clean guilloché and solid links; the case shows minor age-related external wear but remains solid and presentable.

A crisp, traditional pair of British 9-carat gold cufflinks with a timeless design, ideal for everyday wear or as a personalized gift after engraving. Please examine all photos carefully as they form an integral part of the advert, and feel free to contact me with any questions.

Dimensions: each oval plate measures 1.75 cm long and 1.1 cm wide; total weight of pair 3.77 g.
