Description

Ink drawing on paper signed lower right A. Doviane. Titled lower center: Sempach 9 Juillet 1386. Measuring 40cm x 24cm sight, unframed, 61cm x 47cm overall. Representing the Battle of Sempach drawn in 1886 for the 500th anniversary. The Battle of Sempach, a locality in the canton of Lucerne, took place on July 9, 1386. It pitted the troops of the Duchy of Austria led by Leopold III of Habsburg, who was killed in the battle, against those of Lucerne supported by elements from Uri, Schwyz and Unterwalden. It is regarded as one of the major battles that enabled the fledgling Swiss Confederation to free itself from Habsburg claims. Auguste Doviane (pseudonym of Auguste Viande), 1825-1887, Swiss painter of history, military subjects and genre scenes. Born in Rome, he was the son of a
