Description

Decorative dish or bowl combining a deep-red ceramic vessel with a regule mounting depicting a charming cherub. The finely sculpted winged child sits on the rim and appears to be reaching out, while a small bronze bird completes the scene on the other side. The ensemble offers a composition full of poetry, typical of the decorative taste of the second half of the 19th century. The contrast between the brilliance of the ceramic and the nuanced patina of the regula reinforces the refined character of this piece. A decorative object with a beautiful presence, ideal as a table centerpiece, pocket divider or part of a cabinet of curiosities. Era: Napoleon III, second half of the 19th century Materials: red ceramic and regula Dimensions: Length: 20 cm Height: 14 cm
