Description

Beautiful handrail ball, from end of 19th century or 1900, complete with its lowerscrew. It is in shape of a sphere, blown crystal, lined with a layer of blue enamel, inside was silvered with mercury, like the mirrors of period, and cut of discs and one star on top, giving it a stunning visual effect, with its 36 little witch mirrors; This ball was in use for around a hundred years and is still in fine condition. A few scratches and wear, but no breaks, cracks or chips. Ball: 11cm diameter, height with foot: 18cm. Weight: approx. 900gr. An unusual object, of good dimensions and in good condition.
