Description

Rare 17th-century work by Charles Perrault, famous author of Les Contes de ma mère l'Oye, here in a scholarly register with Saint Paulin évêque de Nole, published in 1686. This work bears witness to Perrault's lesser-known literary output, blending historical and religious erudition. Editions from this period are particularly sought-after for their antiquity and their importance in the history of French literature. Perrault's work is an example of his lesser-known literary output, combining historical and religious erudition. Example presented in an antique binding, with a beautiful patina of age, typical of 17th-century books. Features: Author : Charles Perrault Title : Saint Paulin bishop of Nole Date : 1686 Format : 16,5 cm x 10,5 cm Binding : full antique leather Condition: good overall condition
