Description

With a presence that's both spectacular and sculptural, this monumental white dining table infuses the glamour and theatricality of Hollywood Regency style into a warm, textured ambience. Its round shape is capped by a glass top that reveals an intricate macramé or woven fabric structure; an unexpected fusion of opulence and craftsmanship that lends the piece lightness and visual depth. The fluid, fringed silhouette creates an impression of movement and softness, transforming the table into a centerpiece almost akin to a textile work of art. The creamy white palette sublimates its airy elegance, while its generous proportions make it an ideal centerpiece for a dining room, artist's studio or eclectic interior in search of a strong, original piece. Evocative of mid-century glamour yet resolutely
