Description

Chest made of chestnut wood - Tuscany, late 19th century
Elegant late 19th-century Tuscan chest, crafted from solid chestnut wood. The piece features a solid and harmonious structure, characterized by framed front panels and shaped legs typical of peasant craftsmanship of the period. The surface displays a splendid original patina, with natural signs of aging that attest to its authenticity and enhance its character. The hinged lid opens to reveal a spacious interior, ideal for linens, blankets, or as a practical storage space.
