Description

Nineteenth-century onyx, gilt bronze & cloisonné enamel crucifix stoup. A veritable concentrate of French & religious craftsmanship, this crucifix-shaped stoup is a nugget of sacred art popular in nineteenth-century France. This kind of wall-mounted stoup was made to order & personalized according to the initials of the purchaser(s), explaining the S and I in its center, probably the initials of the first names of a religious couple to whom it belonged. This stunning blend of pinkish-beige onyx, a gilded bronze base embellished with the stoup and cross at its center in cloisonné enamel testifies to a quality of craftsmanship inherited from the Napoleon III era, still usable today, or made for sacred art collecting, its beauty will surprise and fascinate! Fast & careful shipping to France,
