Description

Large earthenware vase with baluster body and slender neck, richly decorated with elegant polychrome decoration in predominantly blue, embellished with greens, yellows, oranges and pinks. The ensemble is adorned with floral bouquets arranged in reserves, alternating with arabesque and foliate motifs. The neck features a refined decorative frieze in the taste of Dutch Delft productions, while the body offers a particularly harmonious symmetrical composition. The decoration, executed by hand, bears witness to fine craftsmanship and a style inspired by European earthenware of the 17th and 18th centuries. Era: Nineteenth-century work, in the Delft taste Materials: Glazed earthenware with hand-painted decoration Dimensions: Height: 42 cm Condition: Good overall condition, with light
